

The latest trend in caring is here. PersonalRX[®] is the pharmacy for now.

PersonalRX manages refills, handles doctor calls, and offers a personal care coordinator service — all at no additional cost.

If you're a caregiver for someone taking 5 or more medications a month, there's a new service that can help. No more waiting in line. No more late runs to the pharmacy. No more frustrating calls for refills. PersonalRX handles it all. With medications delivered to your door in individual daily dose packs and a personal care concierge to coordinate refills and stay on top of medications, you'll soon see why PersonalRX is the future of pharmacies.

How does it work?

PersonalRX collects the patient's information, their list of medications, and doctor and insurance contacts. Then, PersonalRX takes over from there. They'll ship medications to you in individual daily dose packs, speak with doctors about refills, and offer a medication review to ensure there are no issues with overmedication or unintended side effects of mixing medications. They see themselves as an extension of the care team — so you're not alone in caring for your loved one.

Personal service that's actually personal.

The biggest thing that sets PersonalRX apart is their personal care coordinator. Every patient is assigned someone whose job is to care — it's as simple as that! And, they take their jobs seriously. Olivera, a caregiver for one of our patients, shares her experience with her concierge, Sonja.

“Who could not be happy with their services and the people there? I can't say enough about how great Sonja is and how much she helped me get all medication changes done correctly when we changed doctors recently!”

In addition to a personal care coordinator, PersonalRX also offers access to a pharmacist 24/7, available to take your questions whenever they arise.

It's easier for everyone.

PersonalRX benefits help you and your loved one. The benefits include:

- Personal medication dose packs labeled for morning and evening. This way, the patient can regain some of their independence — they simply tear off the packet for that day and take their medications with ease.

- Access to a pharmacist 24/7. If you have a question late at night, they're there for you.
- Personal care coordinator who manages everything related to your medication delivery, insurance copays, and more. They'll even sync up your refills, so you don't have to worry about multiple deliveries a month. Get all your meds — all at once.
- RX², an easy-to-use smartphone app that allows you to take control. You can use it to share your medication list with your doctors, check the status of your meds, or even get custom reminders for when to take your meds.
- No added cost beyond standard copay. It's basically a free service — what could be better?
